- The company guided expectations higher on both revenue and earnings for Q2.

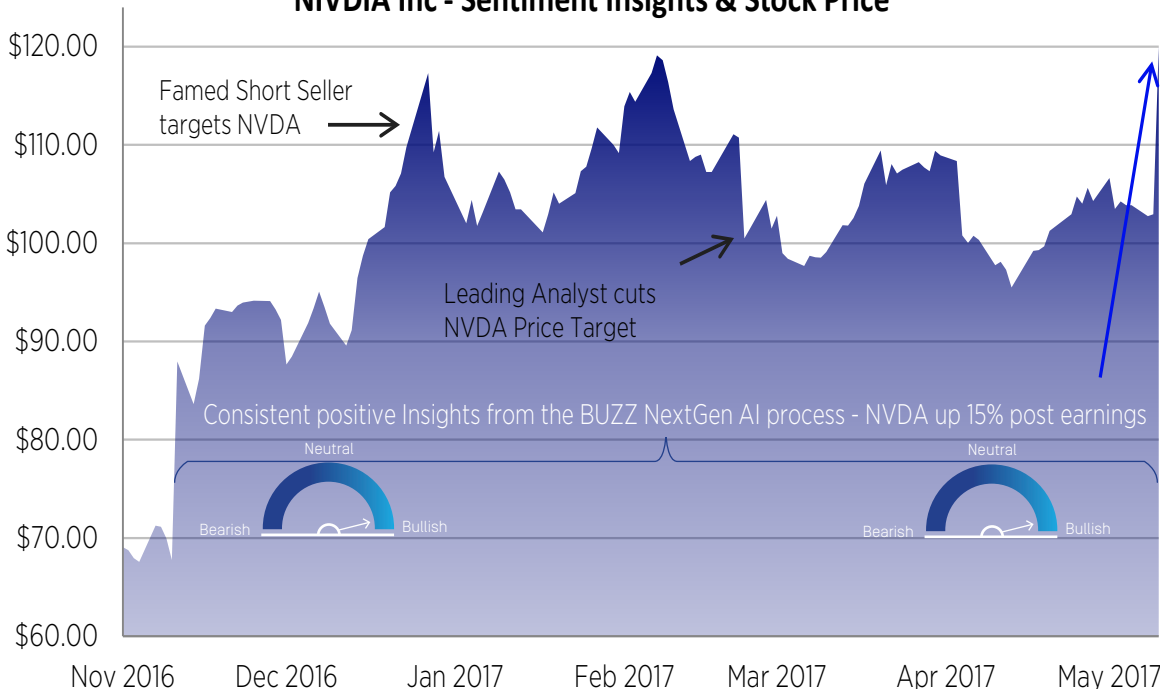

INSIGHTS FROM BUZZ:

- Insights sourced within the BUZZ NextGen AI process consistently indicate positive sentiment toward Nvidia.
- Sentiment measures remained positive even as prominent short sellers targeted the company late in 2016 and while analysts lowered their ratings and target price outlooks during the first quarter of 2017.
- The positive tone is highlighted by Nvidia's data-center GPU business and its prospects in artificial intelligence, and more specifically deep learning, as key drivers for growth in the coming years.

Sentiment insights indicate additional upside for Nvidia.

"One industry after another is awakening to the power of GPU deep learning and AI, the most important technology force of our time." - Jensen Huang, founder & CEO, Nvidia.
