

FLASH NOTICE: Sentiment Spike is Notable in Marathon Oil

MARKET UPDATE:

- Down 28% year-to-date, Marathon Oil has traded with a high correlation to the price of oil, reflecting the commodity exposure inherent in the company's operating businesses.

INSIGHTS FROM BUZZ:

- In October 2016, sentiment on Marathon Oil turned decidedly bullish amid volatile crude oil prices, propelling the stock into the index just in time to catch a nice rally from $13 to $19.
- Marathon Oil dropped out of the BUZZ NextGen AI US Sentiment Leaders index in February, 2017 and has remained out since, during which time a downturn in oil dragged the company's shares back to almost $12.
- As the price of oil hovers around key support levels, sentiment on Marathon Oil has once again turned positive as investors see signs of stabilization.
- The next move for oil will be crucial, as a bounce higher combined with increasing sentiment could lead to another large rally for MRO.
